

CITY TO HOST GREENVILLE ZOO MASTER PLAN PUBLIC MEETING
Public input needed to help guide future development of zoo

WHO: City of Greenville and PJA Architects + Landscape Architects

WHAT: Greenville Zoo Master Plan Public Meeting

WHERE: Hughes Main Library, 25 Heritage Green Place

WHEN: Wednesday, January 18, 6:00 p.m.

WHY: The City will host a public meeting, led by Seattle-based PJA Architects + Landscape Architects, a leading company in zoo and botanical garden design and interpretive, entertainment and interior work, to discuss the future of the Greenville Zoo. At this interactive meeting, attendees will have an opportunity to hear the concepts and ideas for a future zoo design, and ask questions and offer input.

The meeting is the first of three public sessions that will help determine the Greenville Zoo's Master Plan for the next 15 - 20 years. The master planning committee, along with PJA Architects + Landscape Architects, will use the meetings as an opportunity to develop several concepts for a possible future layout of the Greenville Zoo.

The City has also developed an online survey as an additional opportunity for the public to provide input on the future of the Greenville Zoo. To download the survey, visit the City's website at www.greenvillesc.gov or the Greenville Zoo's website at www.greenvillezoo.com. The survey will be available online and at the Greenville Zoo through February 9, 2012.
